

GAME LAUNCH PLANS

We have decided as a group if our game where to ever be released to the public we would have it available on mobile and pc, with an emphasis on making it a mobile game as the vertical nature of the game would integrate well with a modern mobile phone.

James has developed some app icons for our game(Maurice to the moon) that capture the essence of the game whilst keeping it simple and legible to be seen on a small device.

Controls for the game would be very simple, for pc the keys would be WASD for moving jumping and crouching With E and Q being used for throwing and pulling the lasso.

Mobile use would be all touch and drag with a button on the bottom right for using the lasso. We would release the game for free and include add in between rounds to make money from.
